Drafting the Annual Report each year gives us time to reflect on the impact and growth we have had as an agency, and on the individuals we serve, within our geographic footprint. It allows us time to highlight our achievements and milestones. While it's true that non-profits all over New Jersey are facing tight funding and limited resources – JFCS continues to meet the increasing demands for social services in our area. We can truly see the power and impact of the agency when we take a moment to analyze what we have accomplished, even in the current economic climate that surrounds us all.

Jennifer Dubrow Weiss
Executive Director

We continue to aide seniors in the golden years of their lives, offering critical services such as food delivery and home care visits, to ensure a better quality of life. In some of the darkest days, we bring light to those who suffer from mental illness. When a family finds paying for grocery bills, utilities and rent a near impossibility, we are there to lift some of the burden through our food pantries and our Family Assistance Program. For the young adult with special needs, we offer occupational and life skills training to nurture his passions and find a local company to offer him gainful and rewarding employment. We offer support and resources to those who require guidance and direction to leave a violent relationship.

Mark Shapiro
Board President

As our state unemployment rate skyrocketed to over nine percent, we helped facilitate career guidance and job placement through the Stan Kessler Career and Entrepreneurial Counseling Services. In a similar vein, our supported employment program for individuals with special needs continues to support people in jobs all over South Jersey. Additionally, we were able to secure funding to start Soups and Sweets, a groundbreaking program which will offer food service employment and training to individuals with special needs and will dually serve the need to feed our area seniors. We were also able to spearhead Patient Partners, a service that brings vital support, understanding and compassion to patients by volunteer advocates accompanying them to doctor appointments.

Due in great part to financial contributions from our community members, and the time and dedication of selfless volunteers, board members and staff – we create an environment for people, and potential, to grow. All have invested in JFCS, and together, we all invest in our community. It's true the word investment usually points to numbers, statistics and figures. Yet, while this Annual Report contains numbers necessary to shed light on our financial and fiscal profile, it also shows an investment of another kind – an investment in the common good of our neighbors and friends in Southern New Jersey.

We are grateful to all of those who were an integral part of bringing enrichment, hope and promise. Together, we can continue to surmount the challenges in our community and create endless possibilities and positive change for those we serve.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Dubrow Weiss
